1. Contributions to the University, Fiscal 2006-2007

The VCU 2020 Strategic Planning:

- “Taking our position among the top research institutions”
 - VCoA has successfully helped secure two grant projects this year, and is directing all of the research evaluation.

- “Serving VCU’s many communities”
 - VCoA’s work is addressing both the aging and disabilities communities. Initiatives during this period focused on lifelong learning, employed workers who are family caregivers, training of professionals in geriatrics, aging with lifelong disabilities, and domestic violence against older women.

- “Developing a global presence”
 - VCoA is representing VCU in a continuing pioneering effort to introduce applied educational gerontology in Japan and Southeast Asia. We worked with colleagues from universities in the U.S. and Japan to conduct an international invitational gerontology synthesis conference held in Okinawa in March 2007, and are now working on subsequent conferences in Japan in 2008 and India in 2009. See http://www.carefit.org/sympo/sympo2007/index_en.html

- “Leveraging our strengths and building bridges through interdisciplinary activities”
 - VCoA partnered with 35 units of VCU and with 40 statewide departments, businesses, coalitions, and non-profits in calendar 2006 in interdisciplinary training, research, and information sharing.

- “Maintaining VCU as a Model for University/Community Partnerships”
 - 1) VCoA co-maintains the Lifelong Learning Institute in Chesterfield through a partnership with the Chesterfield County Public Schools, and the support of the Chesterfield County Board of Supervisors.

 - 2) VCoA directs the multi-jurisdictional Area Planning and Services Committee (APSC) as a model project to address the needs of aging adults with lifelong disabilities and their family caregivers. APSC membership covers Richmond City, Chesterfield, Hanover, and Henrico counties and includes representatives from VCU, agencies in mental retardation, healthcare, parks and recreation, banking, communities of faith, and other sectors, as well as family caregivers.

- 3) VCoA and Senior Connections: The Capital Area Agency on Aging completed work on Workplace Partners for Eldercare, a project funded by the Richmond Memorial Health Foundation, to assist caregiving employees of some 20 employers in central Virginia. VCoA developed and collected data from on-line survey and in-person interviews with human resources managers and work/life coordinators to determine extant elder care programs or services and potential initiatives.

2. Highlights

- VCoA competed successfully for one of only 10 grant awards nationally from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women. The grant of $429,075 will allow the Virginia Center on Aging and collaborators to offer multidisciplinary elder abuse training to police officers, prosecutors, and court officials in the Richmond metropolitan area over the next three years.
- VCoA, having contributed substantially to the successful grant application for core federal funding of the Virginia Geriatric Education Center (VGEC) for $2 million (2005-2010), only to see the Congress eliminate the program nationally, launched a successful campaign in the Virginia General Assembly to obtain General Fund appropriations for the continuing support of the VGEC and other geriatric initiatives. VCoA administered the $375,000 appropriation, and partnered with Eastern Virginia Medical School and McGuire Research Institute to provide Geriatric Academic Career Awards totaling $120,000 to develop geriatric research and clinical teaching skills of three prominent geriatricians.
- VCoA's Elderhostel programs for older learners, a range of weeklong, short, and traveling courses in Richmond, Hampton/Yorktown, Natural Bridge, and, new this fiscal year, Staunton, drew some 1,200 older learners. Richmond enrollments for the first six months of 2007 have already exceeded enrollments for the entire year of 2006. VCoA enrolled its 30,000th Elderhostel student in 2006.
- VCoA, as leading partner in the Central Virginia Task Force on Older Battered Women, was pleased to receive the 2006 Best Practices Award from the gubernatorial-appointed Commonwealth Council on Aging.
- VCoA, as a result of House Bill 110 (2006) that requires all state agencies to prepare annual reports that address the impact of the aging of the population in Virginia, has been working with the Virginia Department of Alcohol Beverage Control (VABC) in an implementation workgroup to identify demographic impacts and the VABC's relevant objectives.

- VCoA administers the Alzheimer's and Related Diseases Research Award Fund (known as ARDRAF) for Virginia-based researchers. Since 1982 VCoA has awarded 105 seed grants, averaging just over $15,000 each in a total outlay of $1.6 Million, which have, in turn, brought back to Virginia over $16 Million in larger grants from the likes of the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, for a return on investment of over $10 for each dollar appropriated.
- VCoA's Lisa Furr, Project Coordinator for the Central Virginia Task Force on Older Battered Women (now the Task Force on Domestic Violence in Later Life), at the request of the Office of Executive Secretary of the Supreme Court of Virginia, trained 345 magistrates around the Commonwealth in the months of November and December in six, two hour sessions focusing on domestic violence in later life and elder abuse.
- VCoA directs the Area Planning and Services Committee for Aging with Lifelong Disabilities (APSC) in metropolitan Richmond, a research-based model strategy to address issues related to the aging of adults with lifelong disabilities. In 2006-2007 the APSC conducted training workshops on "Down syndrome and dementia," developed a teaching DVD on healthy cooking, and hosted a conference on "Aging in Place, Aging Well" that drew 160 service providers, caregivers, planners, and others.
- VCoA's co-sponsored Lifelong Learning Institute in Chesterfield (LLI), an educational program for older adults that is administered and operated by its volunteer members and sponsors, offered over 120 courses and special events between July 2006 and June 2007.

3. Research and Scholarly Activities

- Five journal articles in refereed professional publications:

- Nine presentations at scientific meetings
- One co-development of an international (Okinawa) forum on aging
- Two editorships on special issues of professional journals (Canadian Journal on Aging; Gerontology and Geriatrics Education) that are currently in press

4. Public/Community Service

- VCoA continued its initiative to educate clergy and lay leaders in communities of faith in matters of aging and wellness, this year focusing on ministries to and with adults with lifelong disabilities.
- VCoA staff gave substantial services to Virginia's agencies and citizens by serving on the boards of some dozen non-profit organizations, providing leadership, technical assistance, and pro bono services to groups such as the Shepherd's Center of Richmond, the Virginia Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Commission, the Virginia Quality Healthcare Network, the Alzheimer's Association Richmond, the Culture Change Coalition (on long-term care), and the Virginia Elder Rights Coalition.
- VCoA co-sponsors the Lifelong Learning Institute (LLI) in Chesterfield, after its third year of existence. A voluntary organization, the LLI provides an important presence in Chesterfield County for VCU and VCoA, and a strong partnership association with Chesterfield County and Schools, John Tyler Community College, and a number of other organizations, businesses and medical facilities.

5. International Activities

- VCoA co-directed development of an international invitational conference for Japan and other Southeast Asian nations on aging and quality of life that took place March 1-4, 2007 in Okinawa. Partners included the Nippon Care Fit Service Association, Obirin University in Tokyo, the University of North Texas, and several philanthropic organizations. With these partners, VCoA is looking to expanded engagement in Japan and India

6. Challenges in Fiscal Year 2007-2008

- Continuation of long-standing geriatrics training and education programs with which we have been closely affiliated remains uncertain. In 2006 VCoA initiated a successful effort to secure appropriations from the Virginia General Assembly to continue the Virginia Geriatric Education Center (VGEC) and the Geriatric Academic Career Award (GACA) programs. However, the 2007 session of the General Assembly did not reauthorize these appropriations. A reconstituted federal initiative has yet to specify the conditions under which previously federally funded programs might be renewed.
- VCoA's Elderhostel program has required constant diligence to administer amidst frequent changes in procedure, deadlines, and guidelines prescribed by Elderhostel, Inc. At the same time, Elderhostel, Inc. has failed to develop an effective marketing strategy and competitors grow more numerous for older learners who will pay to travel and learn. VCoA is exploring new content emphases and has launched a new geographic region around Staunton within which to grow.
- VCoA has devoted considerable effort, with minimal success, to recruiting VCU faculty to teach courses for the Lifelong Learning Institute in Chesterfield County. We will continue our efforts for a greater VCU presence within the LLI.

7. Outcomes/Objectives for Fiscal Year 2007-2008

The following outline of seven objectives for 2007-2008 is organized according to our legislated mandates of interdisciplinary studies, research, and information and resource sharing.

Interdisciplinary Studies

1. VCoA intends to continue its position in addressing domestic violence against older women. This commitment has involved leadership in a regional task force, a growing number of presentations before professionals in adult protective services, four funded V-STOP (Virginia Services, Training, Officers, Prosecution) projects with the Department of Justice Services to address regionally domestic violence and sexual assault in later life, funding from the Domestic Violence Victim Fund to work against family violence statewide, and a new major multi-year grant award from the U.S. Department of Justice on elder abuse..

2. VCoA intends to continue leadership within the Area Planning and Services Committee (APSC), its model project for regional cooperation to address emerging challenges and opportunities associated with the unprecedented aging of adults with lifelong, developmental disabilities. The APSC has developed initiatives in health screening protocols, dementia training, multi-focus conferences, and staff development.

Research

3. VCoA will continue its administration of, and advocacy for, the Alzheimer's and Related Diseases Research Award Fund (ARDRAF), the most efficient and effective state-based program in the nation to stimulate promising lines of inquiry into the causes, consequences, and treatments of dementing illnesses.
4. VCoA will continue its evaluation of an evolving, partnered project to assist employers in central Virginia, including the VCU Health System, who wish to help their employees who are family caregivers. The project, Workplace Partners for Eldercare, has been re-funded.
5. VCoA's Associate Director of Research, a gubernatorial appointee to the Alzheimer's and Related Disorders Commission, will continue to work to help formulate various ways of leveraging the Commonwealth's diverse expertise in dementia-related issues in order to benefit researchers, practitioners, service providers, educators, and families. The Commission's work on a virtual center is taking shape as a highly innovative means of maximizing resources.

Information and Resource Sharing

6. VCoA intends to maintain its extensive involvement on the boards and task forces of several non-profit aging-related organizations, offering pro bono gerontological expertise and technical assistance to the benefit of the elders and families that these organizations serve.
7. VCoA intends to continue to partner with statewide aging-related organizations in order to disseminate research findings and to expand training for professionals across Virginia. VCoA will co-develop and co-sponsor the annual conferences of associations throughout the year as a commitment to this research application.
